Making a difference though innovative education and partnerships.
MediSend was founded in 1990 with the initial mission of shipping medical supplies and equipment to developing country hospitals and clinics.
In response to an unmet need for professionally trained technicians MediSend developed a world-class Biomedical Equipment Technology School™ that has successfully trained and equipped biomedical technicians for developing country hospital systems since 2007.
MediSend graduates have since returned to work in hospitals and clinics worldwide with the ability to maintain and repair, install and properly use lifesaving biomedical equipment.

110 Graduates
Classes are diverse and multi-cultural. The Fall 2012 class had trainees from Nigeria, Uganda, Sierra Leone, Cameroon, Chad and Kazakhstan.
Women have typically excelled in MediSend’s Biomedical Equipment Technology Program™.
Graduates return to their home institution with the MediSend Mobile Biomedical Equipment Test and Repair Kit™ that includes basic tools, supplies, test and calibration devices to equip a full hospital repair lab.

Equip and Support
Sustainability

MediSend continues to distribute life-saving medical supplies and biomedical equipment, leveraging long-term partnerships with hospitals and clinics that are supported by MediSend’s professionally-trained and equipped biomedical technicians.

MediSend relies on corporations, businesses, governments and individuals to sustain its programs and to participate in the development of new and innovative initiatives.
