

Karl V. Hopkins

Karl V. Hopkins is a partner in the corporate section of Dentons and serves as the firm's Chief Security Counsel. His practice concentrates on international energy and infrastructure projects. He is also involved in advising clients on security strategies for their assets and personnel abroad. He is a member of the American Bar, the Texas Bar, the Washington DC Bar, the Texas A&M University International Board, and he co-chairs the Association of International Petroleum Negotiators' national oil committee. In addition, he is a board member of the Atlantic Council, a member of the Business Executives for National Security's Energy Council and the Task Force for Cybersecurity, and a member of the Board of Governors of the Middle Eastern Institute. Hopkins was named one of the "America's Leading Lawyers for Business" by Chambers USA for 2009-2013.

In addition to his transactional experience, he has represented clients in various arbitration tribunals, including the AAA, ICDR, LCIA, UNCITRAL, and NASD. He has represented clients on energy related matters in numerous countries. Hopkins has experience in managing matters relating to large asset based transactions, including the sale of oil and gas interests, the construction of pipelines, refineries, onshore and offshore production facilities and related infrastructure projects.

Hopkins is a Board member of the Texas A&M University International Board, the George Bush School of Government and Public Service Development Council, the President's Advisory Council, an Executive member of the Chancellors Advisory Board, and a Member of the Association of Former Students.