“...one needs friends to be able to think.” Leah Bradshaw

Building on earlier P4C workshops, this advanced workshop is designed for previous workshop participants who wish to develop their own skills at facilitation or who wish to support colleagues who are just beginning with P4C pedagogy.

Program Emphasis

- Learn to develop a community of inquiry.
- Facilitate Philosophy for Children dialogues/discussions.
- Choose or create pre-college philosophy materials use in your classrooms
- Enhance critical and creative thinking through philosophical dialogue

The program is appropriate for elementary, middle school, and high school educators.

Funding for this program comes from a grant from the Culture and Curriculum Committee, College of Education, Department of Teaching, Learning, and Culture. The program is sponsored by Public Partnership & Outreach, Office of the Provost at Texas A&M University.
